EMPLOYEES' ANSWER FILED.

Union Pacific Men Deny Any Intention of Settling—Wage Schedule to Come Up Thursday—Telegraphers' Troubles Not Yet Settled.

OMAHA, March 27.—The hearing of the Union Pacific-Gulf case was resumed this morning in the United States circuit court, before Judges Caldwell and Sanborn. Henry W. Hobson of Denver, attorney for the Gulf road, occupied the main floor in argument, presenting philosophical answer filed yesterday. The Union Pacific is not insolvent. "The court allowed the Gulf road to withdraw the demurrer already filed, and to file in its stead, but the attorneys of the Union Pacific were granted the right to make replication.

Mr. Hobson closed his argument this afternoon, and was followed by Attorney Feltner, also for the Gulf, who consumed all the rest of the time today. The attorneys for the Union Pacific will close the arguments tomorrow. It will be impossible, therefore, to take up the matter by your petitioners on Thursday morning. The statement of Receiver S. H. H. Clarke, which was to have been filed with the court today, has not yet been completed, and it will not be finished before tomorrow morning.

OMAHA, March 24.—The great storm that has been prevailing over the northwest has entirely abated and the sun is shining brightly, with no wind. The Union Pacific and Burlington lines are now open between Omaha and Cheyenne.

Twenty-eight carloads of people, who had been snowed out of the Union Pacific, reached here today. Four trains had been consolidated, and the passengers were from 10 to 36 hours late. The Elkhorn line has not yet been opened in the extreme northwestern part of the state and the Black Hills. Two trains from Douglas, Wyo., eastbound, are still missing in the drifts, but it is believed they will be dug out before evening.

SENATOR COLQUHITS GENERAL.

Investor Services In the Senate Chamber

WASHINGTON, March 27.—Funeral services over the remains of Senator Colquhitt were held in the senate chamber yesterday afternoon. President Cleveland was not present, but all the members of his cabinet except Secretary Lamont were there. The casket, which was plain black with silver handles, was placed directly in front of the vice president's desk, and into it were two bundles of bouquets. Senator Chaplain Milburn conducted the ceremonies, and was
